

---

Lived Spaces in Historical Archaeological Sites: Herculaneum

Alexandra Dardenay*<sup>1</sup> and Antonella Coralini*<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Université de Toulouse – Université Toulouse le Mirail - Toulouse II – France

<sup>2</sup>Università di Bologna – Italie

Résumé

The study of lived spaces is the peculiarity of the Domus Herculaneensis Rationes (DHER) Project since first 2000's: during two decades of transdisciplinary research all traces of the life of the ancient city were investigated with integrated approach.

In this pathway the experience of the DHER Project has crossed with that one of the Université de Toulouse Le Mirail and other researchers.

The panel proposes the presentation of the research strategies and results of both the projects.

Mots-Clés: Herculaneum, Domus Herculaneensis Rationes (DHER) Project, Roman Domus

---

*Intervenant